Tuesday—In the house the eight-hour bill was introduced by Mr. Rowe and passed.

The house committee on the territorial prison reported it to excellent condition and very few improvements are necessary.

Mr. Cowan introduced a bill in the house to regulate railroad fares, fixing the rate at 4 cents per mile. Mr. Marlar's bill regulates the salary of officers. Mr. Webb introduced a measure defining the crime of grand larceny and one regulating trusts. Mr. Bernard introduced a bill amending the present live stock law. Mr. St. Charles offered a bill creating the office of mine inspector.

In the Council the various standing committees were appointed by President Ives.

Mr. Ashurst introduced two bills, one providing a penalty for the blacklisting of any discharged employe by a railroad or other corporation. The other measure makes employes of railroads responsible for accidents instead of the company. Mr. Kibbey introduced a bill providing certain privileges for incorporated cities. Mr. Ives introduced a bill which provides for a redistricting of the judicial districts of the territory.

Teachers' Institute.

The Teachers' Institute of Navajo county will be held at Holbrook this year, lasting three days, February 24, 25 and 26. County School Superintendent F. J. Watron has sent out circulars to the teachers of the county containing a list of the subjects to be discussed. Each teacher selects a subject and reports same to the superintendent, who then makes out a programme, covering the three days' work and sends one to each teacher. Should the superintendent find that two teachers had selected the same subject, he notifies one of them of the themes not chosen, and thus prevents the discussion of similar papers. It is stated that this meeting will be very instructive, and that a large gathering of Navajo county's instructors will be present.
